

GRAND JURY CHARGES RESTRAINT OF TRADE

GRAND JURY FINDS UNITED SHOE MACHINERY COMPANY HAS BEEN CONDUCTING BUSINESS ILLEGALLY.

RETURN INDICTMENTS

Government Probs Will Now Follow With View to Prosecution—Review of the Case as Taken Before Government.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Boston, Mass., Sept. 19.—Indictments were returned today by the federal grand jury against the United Shoe Machinery company, charged with conducting business in restraint of trade.

Complaints made to the Department of Justice against the United Shoe Machinery Company—the so-called "Shoe Machinery Trust"—brought the attention of the government to the case.

It is understood that the corporation was charged with being a monopoly in restraint of trade. Infringements upon the patent laws were also alleged, it is said.

Prompt action on the part of the government followed the receipt of the complaints. In April, a few weeks after they had been filed, William S. Greig, special assistant to United States Attorney General Wickham, began a government probe. Special Agents George E. Kiefer and James L. Hunt assisted Mr. Greig in his search for evidence.

The result of the work of these government officials was that on July 26 of this year Attorney General Wickham ordered United States Attorney Amos P. French and Mr. Greig to present evidence obtained to the federal grand jury that reported today.

History of Company.
The United Shoe Machinery Company came into being in 1889. It was founded by Sydney N. Winslow. Its present head, who learned shoe making in a small factory in Salem, Mass., owned by his father, who to secure advantages of combining allied interests formed a corporation embracing the three leading companies then making shoe machinery—Goodspeed Sewing Machine Company, Consolidated and McKay Lasting Company and McKay Shoe Machinery Company—were consolidated. The company was reorganized in 1905 and subsequently auxiliary companies sprang up in Canada, Great Britain, France and Germany. That same year the manufacturing of all its shoe making machinery was concentrated in one large factory at Beverly, Mass. The United States Shoe Machinery Company now employs 4,000 hands, who turn out 20,000 shoe machines yearly.

The Royalty System.
The royalty system, by which the corporation dispenses of its machines, allows a shoe manufacturer to lease machines, paying rentals in royalties on every shoe made. A manufacturer may buy machinery if he gets it from the United Shoe Machinery Company, providing he buys his "findings"—such as shoe nails and eyelets—from the company.

It is claimed that the royalty paid the United Company is about 2 1/2 cents per pair of shoes.

Last year the company brought suit against Thomas Plant, a Boston shoe manufacturer charging patent infringement. Plant sold out his shoe machinery plant and patent rights to the United Company after a bitter fight.

A few months later an independent company—the Broadland Shoe Machinery Company of Lynn, Mass.—was also purchased by the United Company.

Unexpected Probe.
The next important happening in the life of the United Shoe Machinery Company was the unexpected government probe. The special grand jury was called August 1st. Government agents stated before serving subpoenas that the question of lease should be a vital question for the grand jury to consider. The jury made an extensive investigation, sitting four and five days a week during the entire month of August.

Announcement of the climax in the government's inquiries was coincident with a proposal for a state investigation by Governor Eugene S. Fox, a democrat, who in a message to the legislature, which was then in session, pointed out the need of a statute to reach the alleged monopoly.

Legislative committee on rules said that an anti-monopoly bill already enacted covered the situation.

State Held Hearing.
A state hearing on the matter was held and (initial) Representative Bogie from the big shoe center of Lynn introduced a bill in the House of Representatives providing for a three-member committee to begin a probe in Massachusetts.

At the hearing Louis D. Brandeis of Boston, who has assisted the government in some of its trust cases, presented a bill, drawn up, he said, for Attorney General Swift, which provided for drastic regulations, prohibition of royalties and leases, with prison penalties for the violation.

President Charles H. Jones, president of a large shoe company. In reading the bill at a hearing declared that if it was enacted into law it would mean the saving of five cents on each pair of shoes manufactured.

TO TEST AEROPLANE AS LETTER CARRIER

Demonstration For Benefit of Postal Authorities Will Be Carried Out in New York.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Sept. 19.—During the coming week the first aerial mail route in this country will be put into operation here. The attempt of course is merely experimental and is intended to demonstrate the feasibility of utilizing aeroplanes for the rapid delivery of urgent mail between the important cities of the country. The new route will be only about seven miles long, extending from the Brooklyn postoffice to Garden City on Long Island. Its operation will be a feature of the annual aviation meet at the latter place. It is probable that one of the carriers in this novel mail route will be Pierre Vidrine, the French aviator, who successfully conducted aeroplanes mail tests in France a few weeks ago, carrying a regular mail route over one hundred miles in length in little more than half the time required by the fastest express train between the two points.

RAILWAY MEN MEET IN ST. PAUL TODAY

General Passenger and Ticket Agents Gathered Today To Discuss Questions of Interest

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 19.—The fifty-sixth annual convention of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents began its sessions here today with Colonel Moody, passenger traffic manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad, presiding. The convention will continue for several days. One of the timely topics to be discussed is the recommendation that railroad passengers be charged extra for using high class equipment. It has been suggested that a quarter of a cent a mile be added to the price of a ticket for a passenger using an observation or parlor car. In support of the proposal it is contended that the railroads expend large amounts to furnish this class of travelers fast train service, luxurious surroundings, and special attention of various kinds. The association will thoroughly discuss the matter, but any action it may take will be kept advisory in its nature.

A notable feature of the convention will be the banquet tomorrow night. Among those scheduled to speak at the banquet are James J. Hill, President McClen of the Pennsylvania system, Vice President Daly of the New York Central Lines, and several representatives of government railways in France and Germany.

EXCELLENT RECORDS OF WISCONSIN COWS

Thirteen Holsteins in State Included in Recent Revised Registry List of 104 Animals.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Sept. 19.—Thirteen of the 104 animals admitted to Holstein Advanced Registry for a recent period were Wisconsin cows. The total average milk production of these animals for a seven-day period was 41.1 pounds, containing 1.345 pounds of butter fat, equivalent to 16.34 pounds of condensed milk. These results exceed the average for this time of year, as the flies and heat are not conducive to cow comfort and it takes the breeding air of the cold season to develop the necessary appetite. In these recent seven-day tests Heslo (Homeside), a Junior four-year-old bred by S. H. Jones of Watertown, made an excellent record of 37.3 pounds of milk testing 4.89 per cent and containing 2.364 pounds of fat.

Recent additions to the dairy husbandry department of the Illinois agricultural college include the appointment of W. T. Crandall, a Wisconsin graduate, to have general charge of the pure-bred dairy herd and the official testing of the dairy cow. It is said that the production side of dairying at the Illinois institution.

FULL PROSECUTION IN SHAKER MURDER CASE IS PROMISED

State's Attorney in Florida Will Prosecute Klansmen Shakers Who Murdered Woman To Relieve Her of Consumption Throes.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Orlando, Fla., Sept. 19.—Declaring vigorously that he will prosecute to the fullest of his ability for conviction of first degree murder, State Attorney John C. Jones, has given the United Press a signed statement setting forth his views of the act of two Klansmen Shakers who put a woman member of their colony to death to save the agony of the last throes of consumption.

His statement follows: (Copyright by United Press.)

Regarding your inquiry whether Elder Ebert Gillette and Elizabeth Sears of the Shakers in Osceola County will be prosecuted for the murder of Sadie Marchant, I reply that it is my duty to prosecute them and I shall certainly do so. Under the laws of Florida and under the feeling of humanity being when perpetrated from a premeditated design to effect the death of a person killed, is murder in the first degree. This act is fully covered by the statutes. Gillette stated that he knew chloroform would kill the woman and that he gave it to her for that purpose. The fact that the fatal dose was administered under the belief that he and the Elders did it for the purpose of relieving pain of a person's suffering from an incurable disease or because they believed their religious faith authorized such an act, does not alter or excuse the criminal quality of the act.

The freedom of conscience and religious belief is guaranteed by the United States and also by the several states, but this only permits the freedom of religious belief and worship and does not permit the commission of any act under conscientious or religious belief which evoked an act forbidden by the criminal laws of the land and by the law of God. This view has been held and established by Chief Justice Field, the Justice of the Supreme Court, in Davis vs. Beason, 133 U. S. page 333, and in all trials against the Latter Day Saints in which the illegality of the polygamous customs of the Mormons were decided not to permit a private citizen, for any reason, religious conscientiousness or otherwise to be the arbitrator of the life or death of another human being.

Except in cases of pure self-defense of property, where the aggression amounts to a felony it would be a most disastrous doctrine, for under such a principle the aged, the infirm, the helpless, the infant and the diseased would be treated as if they were worn out animals and under a doctrine torture and human sacrifice would be legal, not to mention the opening of a wide door for criminal acts under the cloak of religious fervor or humanitarian motives and also under circumstances impossible of detection and punishment.

However much I pity these unfortunate people I am convinced that they are not guilty of murder and they will be prosecuted under the laws of the land to the best of my ability. The case will come before the grand jury at the fall term of the circuit court of Osceola county, which convenes November 28.

TROUBLE EXPECTED OVER PANAMA TOLL

Although Opening of Canal Is Four Years Distant, Discussion Is Now Heard Regarding Toll Charges.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Houston, Texas, Sept. 19.—Although four years will pass before the Panama canal will be opened for traffic, the matter of tolls is already being discussed by railroad men and others interested in transportation. Many local men believe that the long and short haul decision by the Interstate commerce commission will cause the railroads at an early date to commence to abrogate legislation imposing heavy tolls on all vessels passing through the new route. The decision of the commission will have more far-reaching results it is declared, than was at first supposed. It is known that the steamship lines will fight the efforts of the railroads to legislate for tolls and the royal battle will be fought out in congress.

One of the interesting features of the coming scrap is the fact that the roads will take sides. The transcontinental line will contend that tolls should be exacted from all ships passing through the canal, while the lines with Gulf ports, and other lines running north and south, will cast their influence on the side of the steamship companies. It is generally known that many of the roads with Gulf ports are already considering the organization of steamship lines from Texas and other Gulf ports to the Pacific. They, of course, will contend that no tolls should be charged for the passage of ships through the canal.

This will bring on another scrap and the roads running north and south will enter into a new war with the transcontinental lines for an equal division of the business between the Pacific coast and the interior.

NO MORE TOWELS ON SOUTHERN PACIFIC

On Account of Enormous Loss of Articles All Women Riding on Road Must Furnish Own Linen.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Houston, Texas, Sept. 19.—Because of an enormous loss in towels by the Southern Pacific last year, women who ride the trains and boats of this company next year will be compelled to furnish their own linen, says an edict recently promulgated in Houston, headquarters of the central division of the Southern Pacific.

Officials say the losses of the road in towels alone for the year total $21,000. The shortage is reported as lost towels, disappearing from women's compartments on trains and boats. In one instance on a transcontinental run a loss of 100 towels was reported.

On the other hand the towel shortage from men's compartments is insignificant, a situation which may retain company service for the men, while the women travelers will be asked to furnish their own linen.

It is said the order may spread throughout the Harbman system should the venture of the Southern Pacific prove a success.

INTERURBAN ORDERED TO USE OLD TRACKS

COUNCIL PASSED ORDER LAST NIGHT TO COMPEL INTERURBAN TO USE FRANKLIN STREET TRACKS.

TROUBLE OVER ALLEY

Clash Over Alley Between High and Academy Street Renewed at Meeting—'Joker' in Order for Brick Gutters.

Members of the common council at their regular meeting last evening directed City Attorney H. L. Maxfield to prepare and file with the state railroad commission a complaint to compel the Rockford & Interurban company to operate interurban cars on the South Franklin street tracks. This action was taken by the council, which was somewhat of a surprise, was taken through an order introduced by Alderman Spohn, and as the city attorney held that it was legal, the order went through without a dissenting vote. The question was raised as to whether it could be done as the interurban company had been granted the privilege of running its cars over the South Main street tracks, but the city attorney held that while the company had received permission to operate on South Main street, no permit had been granted to it to abandon the South Franklin street tracks. Further action was taken ordering the interurban company to remove the spur track on North Franklin street and level and clean the street and gutter where the spur track lies. As the tracks have been built on the street and the company at present are of no use to them, they will probably comply with this order willingly.

The first order, however, to run the cars over South Franklin street, presents a problem for the interurban company. Judgments for damages for alleged injury to abutting property are pending against the company, and if the commission orders the road to run its cars on South Franklin street, the company will probably be compelled to pay the judgments.

An unintentional "joker" went through in one of the orders passed by the council last evening. An order was introduced by Alderman Schmidt to put in four-foot brick gutters on High street on both sides of the street from Milwaukee street to Wall street. As the gutters have been placed on the west side of the street by the property owners at Alderman Schmidt's request, this order was changed to read, "the east side of High street." Alderman Sheridan, however, held that as the improvement was to be made in the one block, the work might just as well be extended to the railway tracks, as there is as much need of gutters in the next block as in the one mentioned in Alderman Schmidt's order.

Accordingly, Alderman Sheridan offered an amendment to lay the brick gutters from Milwaukee street to the railway tracks, intending that the work should be done on both sides of the street. A vote of 8 to 2, Alderman Spohn and Schmidt opposing it. Action will probably be taken at the next meeting to include the work on the west side of the street from Wall street to the tracks.

The clash between the aldermen over the question of grading and bricklaying the alley back of the Y. M. C. A. building from North High to North Academy streets, was brought up again last evening when Alderman Schmidt introduced an order to have the alley graded. At a previous meeting the aldermen's order, similar to the one passed last night, was voted down and substituted order put in to brick the alley. The vote on the bricklaying proposition was six to three, but a two-thirds vote was necessary for its passage as the cost would be over $500.

Objection to grading the alley and not bricklaying it was raised by Alderman Dullin, who said that the place would be as big a mudhole after a rain as it is at present, to which Schmidt replied that the property owners there did not want it bricked just now. Alderman Buchholz took issue with the alderman from the First Ward on this question and the two battled words for a few minutes. Alderman Combs stated that Will Deane, one of the property owners affected by the proposed order had spoken to him regarding it and did not like the alley bricked at present, as he (Mr. Deane) proposed erect a building there and after that building and the one now in process of construction for Deane's bar, were completed, the order of Alderman Schmidt, to grade the alley, passed by 7 to 3. Alderman Buchholz, Dullin and Sheridan voting against it.

Jackman Street.
The City Attorney was last night directed to take the necessary action to compel the A. E. Rutledge Company of Rockford, to restore the portions of Jackman street, which have been paved with asphalt, to their former condition, according to the terms of the contract between the city and the Rutledge Company. The street is in bad shape and these steps were taken to insure its being repaired. The matter was taken up some time ago with the contractor and the asphalt company, but they failed to do anything to repair the damage and it was decided the city attorney should take legal action if necessary. It was also agreed that the city attorney should notify the contractor who is filling the streets to put up barriers and lights at night where the filling is being done, there being a question as to whether the contractor was obliged to put up the lights or the street commissioner.

Fire Protection.
An order was passed, ordering the Janesville Water Company to lay a main on South Main street, south from Milwaukee street to a point selected by the Chief of the Fire Department and the Fire and Water committee and put in a fire hydrant. The order was passed in order to enable the fire department to fight from the rear any fire which might break out in the buildings on South Main or East Milwaukee streets and near the Myers Theatre. The order was brought in by Alderman Buchholz, who stated conditions, and Fire Chief Klein explained the need of the fire hydrant. In answer to the question order the hydrant, City Attorney Maxfield decided that the city could order the fire hydrant and if the water company failed to put it in, the city could take steps before the rate commission to force the installation of the hydrant. The water company was also ordered to raise its hydrant at the corner of Washington Avenue and Center Avenue.

Concerning the electric wire ordinance, nothing was done last evening. Alderman Buchholz of the Fire and Water committee reported that the committee had held a meeting and he introduced an order to have the fire chief report all violations of the electric wire ordinance at the next meeting of the council.

Announcement was made by the mayor that he had made an appointment for the committee, which is to meet for the ordinance, with Attorney William Rucker who is revising the ordinance, to meet with Mr. Rucker in his office at seven o'clock on Wednesday evening.

The petition of P. J. McKelque to transfer his saloon license at 421 West Milwaukee street to Christy Ryan was granted and Mr. Ryan's bond was accepted. Permission was given the Janesville Realty Company to construct a one story shed of corrugated iron on the river bank near Dyer's mill and Joseph Kupscheld was given permission to move a building from Holmes street to Racine street.

The city engineer was directed to draw plans for a sanitary drinking fountain to replace the iron one at the intersection of Milton Avenue and Milwaukee Avenue.

Brick crosswalks were ordered in various parts of the Second, Third and Fifth wards and the city clerk was directed to order two carloads of brick for the work to be done on the streets. The street commissioner was given orders to clean gutters and fill eight holes on Milton Avenue and build brick gutters in the Fourth Ward. He was also directed to have sidewalk notices in the Fourth Ward. The contract and bond of Moore & Lovelace for cement work to be done in the First, Fourth and Fifth wards was accepted.

Current bills were allowed and the salary list for September passed. Orders for the payment to John A. Joyce of $15.70 for his services as janitor at the city hall for ten days and of $21.25 for report and 5000 pounds of straw were passed. The municipal cement plant was accepted.

A communication from the Board of Education regarding the Rock County Training school was also accepted.

The council took an early adjournment, completing its work about half past nine.

SCHOOLS TO HAVE SANITARY TOWELS ACCORDING TO LAW

Former Cloth Germ-Filled Article Will be Displaced in Local Schools—Physical Training Classes Planned.

A new law which was passed at the last session of the state legislature necessitates the removal of the public towels in the schools throughout the city. The board of education has already taken steps to this effect and will install the sanitary paper towels in place of the old fashioned germ distributors.

Mr. Duell gave the high school a talk this morning on the correct way to use these new towels. In view of the fact that they are handled much like a blotter and will not stand the rotary motion habitually employed with the cloth towels, it will take some practice to become accustomed to them. In the former practice a very large part in the drying process while this is impossible in the use of paper towels.

Fairbanks-Morse company of Beloit has been awarded the contract to furnish the individual towels for some time and though it is more difficult to learn the proper manipulation to secure the desired result they were becoming very popular, even before the legislature passed the law against public towels.

Physical Training.
Another law recently passed requires the teaching and practice of physical training in the public schools. This has come as a complete surprise to the board of education and they have as yet made no permanent arrangement for such a course. The state superintendent is preparing a syllabus of grade school exercises which will be distributed among the Janesville schools as soon as it is published. This work will be taken up at once and both Mr. Duell and the grade school teachers are making plans to handle this new subject.

one more, probably some time this week according to the statement of S. H. Buchanan, leader of the organization. It has been rather difficult of late to get the modelers together for practice as well as for the concert and as the season is getting late for out-of-door entertainment, the next public appearance of the band will be the last of the year.

Janesville people have been loyal in their support of the band this year as has been proven by the large attendance at all of the entertainments in the park. It will be this support more than anything else which will tend to make the Bowler City band a permanent organization in this city.

LARGE PERCENTAGE TO ATTEND COLLEGE

Estimated That Twenty-five Per Cent of High School Graduating Class Will Continue Study.

Over twenty-five per cent of last year's graduating class are planning to attend higher schools of education. The following are the members of the class who will leave and the schools they will attend:

Elmer Cuckow, Beloit College; Lloyd Curtis, University of Wisconsin; Harold Hend, State Normal School, La Crosse, Wis.; Carrie Hunkuh, Stout Domestic Science School, at Whitewater; Katherine Jeffris, Beloit College; Hazel Ketchum, Lawrence University; Nellie Robertson, Ohio State University; John Shawman, University of Wisconsin; Ruth Wheeler, Presbyterian Hospital, Chicago; Gerald Wool, North Western, at Evanston.

Delroy Kelly, who has done a great deal of illustrating for the Phoenix and has been a high school student in Janesville, will be represented at the Janesville Art School in Milwaukee.

James Miller will be represented at the Janesville Art School in Milwaukee. He was a pitcher in the Northern League belonging to the Grand Forks Baseball Club and pitched against Duane Phillips, who then belonged to the Pittsburgh Nationals. Danerel was finally drafted to the Minneapolis team of which team he is still a member, as his contract has never been cancelled. He has a lock-out with the club. Two years ago after closing a two years' continuous tour with the Merry Widow, he joined the Minneapolis team to try to get into condition for the coming season. He practiced with the team every day and pitched twice against Kansas City winning both games.

When asked why he gave up baseball as a profession he said that "He thought he would become more famous as a singer and also that the money remuneration was bigger." Both he and Phillips have reached the top of their professions. Mr. Danerel is an all around athlete, being a fine swimmer, an ardent fisherman and one of the best boxers on the stage here. Mr. George Danerel will be seen here with "The Heart Breakers" at Myers Theatre, Friday, September 29.

MADAME SHERRY.
Madame Sherry, the musical comedy star of New York this season, which, after six months of unprecedented success in Chicago, is now attracting sensational attendance at the New Amsterdam Theatre and promising to remain all year or even longer in Manhattan, will come here next Monday, September 25, for an engagement of one evening.

The announcement that a success of the magnitude of Madame Sherry is to be offered in this city at the very height of its metropolitan favor has naturally stirred up local interest to an unusual degree, and every indication is for a phenomenally successful engagement. Managers Woods, Frazee and Lederer have maintained a twin organization at the New Amsterdam Theatre, the members of which have been interchanging performances, and it is one of these splendid companies, which will be seen here. In every detail the performance is a duplicate of the big New York production, and it is coming here with all the splendor of cast, chorus, stage setting and special orchestra.

A BACHELOR'S HONEYMOON.
"A Bachelor's Honeymoon" is the title of the laugh play which will be given here Thursday, Sept. 21, at the Myers Theatre. The cast will be here just as it has appeared in all the large cities. There will be "Juno Joyce," late of the Omaha Theatre in New York; "Benjamin Bachelor," who married in haste; "Minerva" his sister and moral guardian; "Annylita" and "Charlylita" his twin daughters; "Marianne" the maid with a clue in her head; "Joe" the man servant always in hot water; "Stephen Houston" a very busy man; "Dr. Ludwig Schwartz" who nurses a secret sorrow; and "Anthony Gumbag" a confidential agent adept at disconcerting facts. The plot of the play is very comical and is one of the best comedies ever produced.

THEATERS

"THE PARADIAN BEAUTIES."
The Paradian Beauties will be the attraction at Myers Theatre next Tuesday, Sept. 19. It is largely composed of the female gender; there are twenty pretty girls with foreign experience, and they are assisted in their "jambos" by some clever comedians right up to the times, with original stunts on every move. The two bright burlesques, McGuire from Stratford and McGuire in Society, give ample opportunities for them to display the versatility. The specialties include a number of meritorious acts of the high order, sensational, operatic and comic, featuring "Splendor" the $10,000 spectacular novelty. All the costumes are works of art and are designed with a view to display the many and varied charms of the wearers. The scenic effects combined with the grand electrical illuminations, are notable features and are sure to capture the town, from the fact that pretty faces and things and styles that are catchy and things that will always attract the lovers of burlesque.

THE HEART BREAKERS.
George Danerel, who will be seen in the leading role in "The Heart Breakers" the latest of musical comedies, presented under the management of Mort H. Slinger, was a professional ball player before he took up the stage. He was a pitcher in the Northern League belonging to the Grand Forks Baseball Club and pitched against Duane Phillips, who then belonged to the Pittsburgh Nationals. Danerel was finally drafted to the Minneapolis team of which team he is still a member, as his contract has never been cancelled. He has a lock-out with the club. SPRINGY-ROADBED SAID TO BE CAUSE OF MONROE WRECK

Careful Examination Shows That Cars and Not Engine Left Rails First Due to Lack of Firmness of Roadbed.

Careful examination at the scene of the wreck which occurred near Monroe, Sunday night, in which one man was killed and five others more or less seriously injured, shows that the accident was not due to spreading of the rails on a curve in the track as was first reported. On the contrary the track at the scene of the wreck is at most perfectly straight. The condition of the track proves without doubt, according to statements made by local employees and officials, Foreman Swan and Engineer Allen, who were there to inspect the wreck, that the cars and not the engine were first to leave the track, and at the point where this occurred the rails were in perfect condition on the ties. These facts are given as conclusive proof that the first cause to which the wreck was attributed was not the real cause.

Some of the cars were thrown on one side of the track and some on the other and the one in which the man was killed rolled down the high embankment through the fence and into the adjoining field. The engine toppled over on its right side and unbedded itself in the fill a short distance down the bank. Little damage was done to the engine excepting that the cab was broken.

Men who have been over the line with engines recently, claim that the track at this point is springy and believe that as the engine passed over this spot it started a rocking motion in the track and this motion continuing as the cars came along, increased to such an extent that some of the cars near the center of the train were thrown from the track, dragging the other cars and the engine with them. Regular trains were run over the track last night. Mr. Reddy, the veteran wrecking foreman from Milwaukee, visited the scene of the wreck today to determine what sort of equipment will be required to replace the engine and cars on the track. with the service rendered approaches intelligent service.

For many years the Janesville Street railway was a burlesque and indirectly an injury to the city. Today, it is a part of the system which connects the cities of the Rock River valley. To this fact is due the revamping of the road, which has never paid as an independent system.

In dealing with the interurban company, these facts should be considered, and a disposition shown to treat the company fairly. The question of whether the cars should enter the city by Franklin or Main street, is not a vital question. The tracks on both streets are a part of the system and are being utilized by the company. Franklin street now has a twenty minute service, which is certainly better than under the old schedule.

It is possible that in time the company may decide to loop the bridge, and extend the city line in other directions. The men interested are certainly spending money freely, and every dollar spent is a benefit to the city. They should be encouraged in their efforts and given time to mature their plans.

It is also among the possibilities that the Madison line, which has been built so often on paper, may materialize, and the people may wake up some morning to find themselves in the center of a network of railways.

The interurban company acquired some franchise rights through the purchase of the local company, and these should be given to permit adjustment between the local and urban service.

The early experience of Janesville in fighting railroads proved disastrous, and the memory is not pleasant. It is to be hoped that the council will appreciate the situation and treat the question with a spirit of fairness.

Father Gayth, the noted Catholic priest of North Chicago, is leading a movement to place a second one-half mile tract for saloons around Port Sheridan. He is aided by clergymen of other denominations and when President Taft visits Chicago a petition will be presented to him requesting the government to take action. If the request is granted it will close off saloons in Waukegan and many more in the vicinity.

Senator La Follette is engaged in writing a series of articles on insurance for the American Magazine, giving a history of the movement, what it means, and his connection with it. While President Taft is attempting to enlighten the people, the senator will also engage in the enlightening business, and thus the campaign of education is launched.

President Taft, in his Detroit speech, defends the Sherman law, claiming that the recent supreme court decision removes all objections. The reindictment now going on in the oil and tobacco industries, are object lessons, which the president affirms will be copied freely within the next two years, thus removing much of the odium connected with trusts and combines.

The wave of crime, which is sweeping over the country, is something appalling and indicates that badism has been let loose. While in many instances the motive which prompts the deed, is money, in many others it is pure devilry. The three farmers killed by tramps in Illinois, yesterday, is a sample of crime just now so prevalent.

UNJUST DISCRIMINATION.

The question of the parcels post has been the subject of much discussion, and while the President favors the measure it is bitterly opposed by many merchants and by some commercial organizations. The fate of the bill will probably be determined by the next congress.

No that as it may, the fact remains that the parcels post law needs revamping in the interests of the American people. Here are the present conditions as brought out by Senator Jonathan Bourne of Oregon, just before congress adjourned.

"Within the United States the rate of postage on fourth-class matter is 16 cents a pound, with a limit of 4 pounds. The United States is party to a treaty under which residents of 29 foreign countries may send fourth-class matter through the United States mails at 12 cents a pound, with a limit of 11 pounds. In other words, a man may send an 11-pound package from San Francisco to Rome, Italy, at 12 cents a pound, but if he wishes to send the same article to New York he must divide them into packages of not to exceed 4 pounds each and pay 16 cents a pound. A Japanese residing in New York can send an 11-pound package to his friends in Tokyo at 12 cents but an American in New York can send only a 4-pound package from New York to Washington and must pay 16 cents a pound."

The Oregon senator introduced the following concise bill to remedy the evil:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That from and after the passage of this act no higher postage rate shall be charged than is charged for transmission of mail partly within and partly without the United States or its possessions. The Postmaster General is hereby authorized and required to establish and enforce rules and regulations which will give the people of the United States rights and privileges in the use of the United States mails as liberal as the rights and privileges the United States accords to the people of the most favored nation."

There can certainly be no opposition to a measure of this kind, unless it be from the express companies. It is a simple demand for justice and would in no way conflict with future postal regulation.

THE INTERURBAN COMPANY.

For the first time in the history of the city the street railway system has taken on an air of permanency and improvements in process are modern.

In you look at his clothes. The clothes would scare a man to death even if they were hung on a wax dummy out in front of a 37 clothing store. They would even scare a real cowpuncher and a real cowpuncher is by no means chicken-hearted.

Cowpunching is a fine art; so fine, in fact, that nobody knows exactly what punching a cow means. You do not walk up to a cow the same as you would walk up to Jim Jeffries or Jack Johnson and punch it with a ticket punch or with a milk punch, although of course the latter would be quite appropriate for a cow; in fact, nobody knows how, when or why or where to punch a cow. The cow is not punched at all, and that is the secret of the whole matter. Therefore the cowpuncher is at best a misnomer and the stage cowpuncher in consequence is a weak imitation of nothing.

These little defects are what cause us to lose faith in the modern drama. It is almost as bad to see a stage cowpuncher as to see a section of scenery drop suddenly during the death scene in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," leaving little Eva out on a sidewalk, in front of a restaurant or Chinese laundry, with no one near to comfort her.

THE 1911 PATTERN.

"Oh, manna!" cried the young offspring.

In terror and despair.

"Oh what can be that funny thing."

That's standing over there;

Is it some strange wild animal?

Brought from a foreign shore?

Oh, tell me, ma, for I've not seen

A thing like that before."

The mother smiled the little lad,

Who in grim terror shook,

And said: "Those things are not so bad."

Now, really, as they look

He will not bite my angel child

He's harmless as a toy;

The thing you so is nothing wild

But just a college boy."

THE DYNAMITE HABIT.

Men may risk their lives by going up in shiny airships, or by making faces at champion prize fighters, but there is no excuse for the man who carries dynamite around in his pocket.

This is what David Taft of West Virginia did, and now they are trying to put him together in a hospital by gradually assembling the parts, and he may recover.

Taft carried two large sticks of the explosive in his coat pocket when he was hit by a train. Being hit by a train ought to furnish enough excitement for the ordinary individual, but Taft was evidently out to break the record, which he did, as well as about everything else in sight.

The carrying about of dynamite in pockets is a habit that should be frowned upon as a general rule. A man is not to forget that he has a bomb in his coat tail pocket and all down suddenly in a street car. This is liable to be very embarrassing to the rest of the passengers who find themselves suddenly floating over the tops of buildings or going through store fronts with more speed than a race, followed by an assortment of car wheels, ticket punches, transformers, motors, motors and conductors.

Then again, he might be crossing a field and be attacked by a ferocious goat or booked by a cow. It takes very little to arouse dynamite to passion, and when it gets mad it is a cliché that something is going to happen. It is almost as dangerous to carry as the revolver that isn't loaded, and the habit of toting it about proudly, should be legislated against. It is decidedly an European sport, and has no place in America.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 19.—The steel work on the new addition to the plant of the Gisholt Machine Co. in this city is nearly completed and the brick walls are now rising. The enlargement will practically double the space on the shop floor, where the Gisholt turret lathes and other designs

one of the newest and most successful forms of service rendered by it is the employment of an "illiterate teacher" at Oshkosh, who visits the schools of the city and instructs in manual training and other vocational subjects. Where such instruction would be prohibitive on account of the expense, the state provides it at moderate cost and makes possible new lines of training otherwise lacking.

Cotton Men Will Discuss Weights.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 19.—In accordance with a call issued by President Williams of the Memphis Cotton Exchange a meeting will be held in this city next week, in which every cotton exchange in the South has been asked to participate. The purpose is to formulate plans for the supervision of weights, in American spinning centres, to consider the amount of tare to allowed and to discuss ways and means for the establishment of competent and satisfactory methods, as well as places, for arbitration. Other subjects of interest to the cotton men of the South are likely to be discussed at the meeting.

VASKAS FINED $100 AND COSTS TODAY

Man Accused of Theft From Golden Eagle Store Pleaded Guilty And Paid Fine in Municipal Court.

In municipal court this morning, Mike Vaskas, accused of stealing five youth's size overcoats and two pairs of shoes from the Golden Eagle clothing store, pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined one hundred dollars and costs, or $106.66. Vaskas secured part of the fine and made arrangements to get the rest of the amount. Four months' hard labor in the county jail was fixed as the penalty in case Vaskas had not secured the money. Vaskas made his plea through an interpreter.

In passing sentence the judge told Vaskas that he had talked with Mr. Levy, one of the partners in charge of the store, and although the prisoner could be sent to state's prison or to jail, he was inclined to be lenient and would punish the crime by a fine. The information in the case was filed by the district attorney today and read by the judge, the interpreter explaining it to Vaskas. The value of the goods stolen was $36.50. It was thought that the punishment meted out would serve as a lesson to Vaskas, as he was warned that the punishment would be more severe in case he gets into trouble again.

INJURED YOUTH NOT BOXER BUT THIEF?

Young Man Injured by Fall From Train Said to Have Been Pickpocket Beating His Way From Monroe.

That the young man, who was injured by falling from the St. Paul passenger train at the city limits Friday afternoon, was a pickpocket instead of a prize fighter, is the allegation now made. According to Chief of Police Appleby, who went from here to Milwaukee on the same train, Allen, as the youth gave his name, and his partner were chased out of Monroe by Marshal Blunt for picking pockets. The Monroe marshal, it is said, put them on the afternoon train and started them to Milwaukee. After they got on the train, it is alleged, the pair attempted to beat the conductor out of their fare by dodging from one end of the train to the other. It was while trying to evade the conductor that Allen fell from the train and was injured.

OLD DEEDS WERE PLACED ON FILE

Warranty Deeds Drawn Up in Sixties for Sale of Lots in Village of Waucoma Filed in Register's Office Today.

Three papers, drawn up nearly fifty years ago, were today filed in the register of deed's office. The oldest, which is dated May 21, 1861, is a warranty deed from I. A. Hoxie and Sarah A. Hoxie, his wife, of Stoughton, to J. P. Van Vleet of Porter, for the sale of lots 13 and 14 in block 3 in the village of Waucoma, town of Porter, Rock county, the consideration being eight hundred dollars. The deed was signed before D. S. Hoxie, justice of the peace.

Next in order is a warranty deed drawn up May 15, 1862, for the sale of lot 13, block 3 of the village of Waucoma from John Porter and his wife, Ann, of Duxbury, Mass., through their attorney in fact, Joseph R. Porter, to I. A. Hoxie. The price named is thirty dollars and the deed was signed by J. T. Dow, justice of the peace.

On January 16, 1863, an indenture between Charles Cure and Lacey VanVleet, both of Porter, was drawn up, whereby the former disposed of lot 8, block 2, in the village of Waucoma to Mr. VanVleet for $100.

The village of Waucoma is known only to a few of the older residents of the county and exists only in the county records as a plat. At one time a mill was situated there, but this has not been in existence for years.

WERE WEDDED AT CHICAGO A WEEK AGO LAST SUNDAY

Miss Christine Hansen and James Zanias United in Marriage At Greek Church September 10.

On Sunday, September 10, Miss Christine Hansen and James Zanias, both of this city, were united in marriage at the West Side Orthodox Greek church. The bridal couple were attended by Miss Star Wilson and Gust Vachos. Other witnesses from this city who attended the ceremony were: John Milton and E. L. Stevens. The bride and groom have returned from a wedding trip and reside at 118 Hickory street.

ORIENTAL RUGS

Harry Mooradian, the well known dealer in Oriental rugs, will be in the city but a few days longer with his fine collection of rugs. His display this year is one of the finest that Janesville people will ever have the opportunity of seeing. Every rug is absolutely guaranteed. Mr. Mooradian has rugs from ten to seven hundred dollars and the prices are remarkably low because of the fact that he imports them direct from Persia and Turkey, thus doing away with the profit of the middleman. He is making prices on his best rugs that are positively 25 per cent cheaper than any other dealer in the United States. In the display there are over $20,000 worth of rugs representing as they do, the many different designs and colors that the Oriental hand loom produces. He will be here this week only. You are invited to come in whether you make a purchase or not. It is a good opportunity for those having repair work to do, to take to Mr. Mooradian, for the work of this kind that he does is absolutely guaranteed. The big rug display is at the store of Frank Kinsball.

P. Paulson and H. Linder Passed Through City This Afternoon On Motorcycles On Way To North and South Dakota.

P. Paulson and H. Linder, two Rockford young men, passed through this city this afternoon on their motorcycles on the way from Rockford to Hettner, S. D., a city on the line between North and South Dakota, which they expect to reach by next Saturday. The young men, who arrived here about half past one and stopped at Harry McDaniel's shop, left Rockford at eleven o'clock this morning on two Harley-Davidson, four horsepower motorcycles. They left here at two o'clock for Madison and will go by way of Baraboo, Elroy, Sparta, LaCrosse and along the Minnesota side of the Mississippi river to Minneapolis, a distance of 465 miles, to Minneapolis and from Minneapolis to Hettner, where they will stop for a short time on a claim on the forest reservation. They expect to be gone in all about two weeks. The young men were attired in their motorcycle suits and caps of khaki and carried no extra baggage, their only equipment being an extra transmission belt. Supplies and food as they are needed, will be purchased at towns and cities along the route. Travelling light, they expect to make an average of about two hundred miles per day, barring serious accidents. Linder is acting as pathfinder for the trip, the route having been carefully mapped out beforehand.

Both tourists are known in this city to the motorcycle men. Paulson was one of the entrants in the races at the big motorcycle meet held in this city on August 26, and Linder was here for the Labor Day races.

The Forest City men will pass through six states on their entire trip, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, South and North Dakota.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

TO PLAN your life instead of letting everything just happen to you, your existence with your eye fixed on some definite goal, instead of just drifting, is the way.

But to keep your plans to yourself until you are very nearly ready to execute them; not to do too much talking about that definite goal, is, to say the least—expedient.

A young girl in our neighborhood bought an automobile recently. Most of her friends were vastly surprised.

Why? Because Elaine had never mentioned her intention of owning a machine.

Quite to the contrary.

Because she had mentioned it so often and talked about it for so long a time that we had quite gotten over expecting her to really do it.

There are people who can't conceive a plan without being fired with an uncontrollable desire to communicate it to the public.

The houses they are going to build, the trips they are going to take, the courses of study they are going to pursue, the wonderful things they are going to buy, form the chief topics of their conversation.

And at first we listen to them with confidence and interest.

And then—well, everybody knows the classic little boy who cried "wolf, wolf" when there was no wolf, and what happened when the wolf really came.

Some day when by some strange chance, our friend of the much-praised plans does build the house or go abroad or buy the horse or take a course in botany, we can scarcely believe that the thing has actually been done.

I love books and people without too much prelude. Don't you?

The kind of books that start you right in with something happening or being said—a swift bit of action or an illuminating conversation; the kind of people who surprise you by referring casually to something they have done instead of grandiloquently discoursing on what they are going to do.

A would-be author told me that the chief criticism a real craftsman made upon his work was that there was always too much introduction.

How many of us are making the same mistake in writing our lives? Let your acts speak their own prologue and write their own introductions and you will find yourself with a much more attentive audience than words will ever bring you.

Thought for Today
By MRS. ROBERT M. LAFFLETTE.

BREATHING.

WH SHOULD all breathe more than we do. Think what the breath does for the body. It is not alone what it does for the lungs.

The constant rhythmic movement is a vital gymnastic for all the important bodily functions. Think what an increased lung capacity means, what a very slight improvement in the method of breathing means. One-third of all the poison generated in the body is excreted through the lungs.

Do you suppose there is any drug that can do for the permanent improvement of the physical life what the habit of taking more air with each inspiration will do?

It is a mistake to suppose that restraint in dress is the only cause of bad habits in breathing. The timid self-conscious, repressed woman often suffers more for want of breath than her sturdily dressed friend whose inward freedom counteracts the outward restraint. Nevertheless, it is a sad reflection on civilized dress that it should hamper full, free, deep, breathing.

No part of the body so quickly responds to an effort to improve as the lung tissue. And we all can, if we will, improve our breathing habit and that, too, without any great amount of effort. Let those who have not formed some better habit follow this suggestion: Each time you leave the house slowly exhale—always begin by exhaling—all the air from the lungs. Then slowly inhale, packing them full; keep up this alternate emptying and filling the lungs while you walk a quarter of a mile. Then be sure to leave the house each day, and walk the quarter of a mile. This "washing out" the lungs goes to be as delightful and indispensable as the habit of bathing, and the relief for good air is keener than that for good water and good food.

It is a mistake to suppose that restraint in dress is the only cause of bad habits in breathing. The timid self-conscious, repressed woman often suffers more for want of breath than her sturdily dressed friend whose inward freedom counteracts the outward restraint. Nevertheless, it is a sad reflection on civilized dress that it should hamper full, free, deep, breathing.

No part of the body so quickly responds to an effort to improve as the lung tissue. And we all can, if we will, improve our breathing habit and that, too, without any great amount of effort. Let those who have not formed some better habit follow this suggestion: Each time you leave the house slowly exhale—always begin by exhaling—all the air from the lungs. Then slowly inhale, packing them full; keep up this alternate emptying and filling the lungs while you walk a quarter of a mile. Then be sure to leave the house each day, and walk the quarter of a mile. SUGGESTIONS FOR HOUSEWIVES.

When cane seats in the chairs sag, turn them upside down and scrub with hot soap suds, then rinse in hot water. When dry they will be drawn tight again.

Use the small-sized clothes pins; they stay on better than the large ones.

Old oil cloth is useful for mats and pads to save the table. Cut in squares and use it under hot dishes.

Old paint stains may be removed from cloth by rubbing first with olive oil and then with chloroform.

Add sugar to fruit when half cooked, and save in the amount of sugar used.

A crochet hook is a good article to keep in the bathroom to draw out lint, hairs, etc., from the paste pipes which stop the flow of water.

A little powdered pumice will remove stains from under the finger nails. Apply it with an orange stick.

To keep corns from troubling rub them often with a fine piece of sand paper.

To clean and renew the shine of leather, dust well, then rub with a mixture of three parts benzine and one of sweet oil.

Dip a sperm candle in the hot starch just before taking off the stove, or add a piece of paraffin as large as a pea. It keeps the starch from sticking.

A shoe case to hold half a dozen pairs of shoes and slippers is almost an indispensable addition to the inside of the closet door. The shoes are always in pairs and can be found in the dark.

As a perspiration deodorant soda is excellent. It is used dusted on like powder.

To prevent the sink pipe from clogging, use plenty of washing soda in hot water once a week.

HITS COMMON SALT.

Dr. Henry Beeson has concluded from a careful course of extended experiments reported in Physiologic Therapeutics that salt is injurious when taken as an accompaniment of food. It is not digested, but serves only as an irritant and an injurious excitant and causing an unnecessary strain upon the kidneys for its elimination as indicated by its production of thirst. I am glad to confirm these conclusions indirectly as well as directly, having rarely used salt during the past six years. There can be no doubt that the use of common salt is not only unnecessary, but distinctly injurious. Its elements, sodium and chlorine, both valuable elements in the nutritional processes, are contained in ample quantity in the ordinary foods, the only source from which they can be assimilated.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

By A. W. MACY.

HOW A MAID SERVANT FOUNDED A GREAT HOSPITAL.

Guy's Hospital, in London, is one of the largest institutions of its kind in the world. It was founded by Thomas Guy in 1724, and thereby hangs a tale.

Guy was rich and miserly, and in middle age he became engaged to marry one of his maid servants. Preparatory to the wedding he gave orders for the nuptial feast to be served at the house to be mended as far as a particular stone, which he marked. In his absence the maid to whom he was engaged was watching the workmen, and noticing a broken place they had not repaired she called their attention to it. They replied that Mr. Guy had told them to repair only so far. "Well," said she, "you mend it, and tell him I told you to. I am sure he will not be angry." But he was, so angry that he broke the engagement, renounced the idea of matrimony altogether, and resolved to spend his fortune in building a great hospital, which he did.

Your Body.

The human skull and the lower limbs each contain 30 bones. The globe of the eye is moved by six muscles. The normal weight of the human liver is between three and four pounds. The human skeleton, exclusive of the teeth, consists of 208 bones. Each ear has four bones. The wrist contains eight bones, the palm of the hand five, and the fingers 11. There are over 500 muscles in the human body.—Toledo News-Bea.

Our Day Dreams.

The stuff of which our day dreams are made is for the most part of very cheap material. We seldom weave into them the threads of our fondest spiritual life. We build castles in Spain, and forecast adventures in the realm of the future. The hero of the adventure is vague and misty. We do not clearly recognize his face, or know what is in his heart.—Henry Van Dyke.

Big Things Always Doing.

Not a day passes over the earth but men and women of no note do great deeds, speak great words, and suffer noble sorrows.—Charles Reade.

AN UNUSUAL DESIGN.

This novel and charming design for gown is especially good for the figure inclined to stoutness. The material used is chiffon cloth, with a panel or skirt band of heavy eyelet lace, which are bordered by bands of velvet arranged in manner shown. The cape effect over shoulders may be omitted without detracting from the finished effect of the gown.

Carpet on Floor.

To clean carpet on floor, take four ounces alcohol, one 10-cent cake soap, two ounces borax, shave soap and dissolve in two quarts water boiling hot. Add borax when dissolved, add one gallon of water, boil fifteen minutes, take from fire, and add as much water as necessary. Take good stiff brush and go over one width of the carpet at a time, dipping brush in fluid often, then go over all again with clean water. Your carpet will look like new.

Oran Bread.

Four cups of bran flour, two cups white flour, one-half teaspoonful salt, two rounded teaspoonfuls soda, two eggs beaten light, two cups butter, six tablespoonfuls molasses, one-half package seedless raisins. Mix well with hand and bake in moderate oven one hour. Try with a straw before removing from oven. Bake in a deep bread pan in order to retain moisture. This makes one loaf and is good for constipation.

Vegetable Transformation.

Clean four large carrots, and shiner them for a quarter of an hour. Peel six turnips and twenty button onions; chop them and the carrots all up, and fry in two ounces of butter with a teaspoonful of sugar for five or six minutes. Shake well, and fry again until the whole are covered with a kind of glaze. Pour over them half a pint of white sauce, season with pepper and salt, and serve very hot.

THE HERPICIDE GIRL IS THANKFUL

I am always grateful for real blessings, and I know of nothing that I need to be more thankful for than Newbro's Herpicide. Thousands of ladies not only in the United States but all over the world feel the same way about it. To this wonderful scalp and hair remedy they owe their soft, long, beautiful hair.

Mary J. Terry, of Loxley, Ill., writes: "My hair came out until there was just a scanty cover for the scalp. I tried everything I ever heard of or read about until I finally used Herpicide. There is nothing like it. My head is now covered with new hair. I shall forever praise Herpicide."

Most hair troubles come from dandruff. Newbro's Herpicide removes this dandruff by killing the germ which causes it. It also nourishes the follicles. The scalp being healthy, the hair does not come out and the new hair is allowed to grow.

There are other preparations which they say are "just as good" as Herpicide. It is not advisable to try them. Instead of doing any good they may do positive harm.

No one is ever disappointed in Newbro's Herpicide. The cause always satisfactory is indicated by the fact that Herpicide has been sold for years and has thousands of satisfied friends. It is the only genuine, original dandruff germ destroyer. There is nothing "just as good."

One dollar size bottles are sold and guaranteed by all druggists. Applications at good barber shops.

Send 10c in postage for sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. H., Detroit, Mich. J. P. Baker, Special Agent.

NOTES FOR CITY FARMERS ONLY.
By H. L. RANN.

We have a confidential letter from a good sister who says that her husband's relatives have taken into the cheerful habit of making her home a rest resort about four Sundays a month, thereby causing her suffering, making it impossible for her to do any of the household work. There is nothing in our marriage laws which says that the peace and quiet of the Sabbath day shall be disturbed by the efforts of a wife to shift the household duties upon her husband's shoulders. The trouble is you never can tell the strange capacity of a hungry relative with just like a boiler top by the size of his waist line. You can make a Georgia cracker who is changed with hops up to his arm pits and you will find that he has a receding stomach which will stretch like a hot woman in a 100-yard dash. They mean, we have seen men who look as if they could eat the lining out of a hay cooker, and if you lead them up to a business man's lunch their appetites will stretch faster than a modest pig before the dance of the Seven Veils. The next time a horde of relatives with elastic side walls and rumbling stomachs descends upon your sister's happy home, we advise her to favor the consummate with hide oil and charge the allies with cayenne. If this doesn't give her a brief period for Sabbath meditation, the case is hopeless.

We notice that the hand-painted coffee pot is making inroads. It is now found in the most exclusive homes, along with the crayon portrait of father in a string mustache. Thus do outcroppings of the artistic temperament multiply.

NEWS OF INTEREST FOR BOY SCOUTS

THEODORE W. GOLDIN, FORMERLY CLERK OF CIRCUIT COURT HERE, ACTIVELY ENGAGED IN SCOUT WORK AT OKLAHOMA CITY.

Theodore W. Goldin who is one of the organizers of the Oklahoma City Boy Scouts of America and who at present has active charge of the boys out there was a real scout in the days of the Indian Wars. He was a friend of the last men with the great feather in the Indian Wars and his life on the prairie Goldin has been a most interesting one. He has a most interesting story to tell of his life in the Indian Wars. From 1875 to 1877 Goldin was a member of the Seventh Cavalry, participating with that regiment in Custer's last fight at the "Little Big Horn" in 1876. "As near as I can learn today," he writes, "I was the last white man who saw and talked with General Custer prior to his death. As I was sent from his command to Reno's with a message about an hour and a half possibly before he was finally shot. The last man to leave him was a trumpeter named Martin, who recently died in New York City. Goldin was employed as a courier and a scout for the government. Then he returned to the states and took up the practice of law. In connection with his law work he has become interested in the Boy Scouts.

Many New Scouts.
The ranks of the Boy Scouts of America will be increased by several thousand this week. The local councils of the San Francisco and the Oakland Boy Scouts in California have passed favorably on the question of amalgamating with the Boy Scouts of America. The local councils of the National Headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America, The Scout Masters will receive new certificates and the amalgamation will be completed within a short time.

The decision of the Boy Scout leaders in the two cities to go over to the Boy Scouts of America was influenced largely by Sydney S. Pelotto, who recently visited New York and the East with a band of Boy Scouts. Pelotto had an opportunity to meet the leaders of the Boy Scouts of America and to become conversant with their aims. He was convinced that the organization of which President Taft is honorary president is making the greatest progress in furthering the Boy Scout activities in this country and that eventually the Boy Scouts of every organization will be largely on the methods and help of the Boy Scouts of America. The Boy Scouts also became greatly interested in the activities arranged by the big organization, and under the supervision of James E. Wood, Executive Secretary, and Preston G. Gray, Field Secretary, the boys went through many tests, qualifying as Tenderfoot and then as Second Class Scouts. Before leaving for California they promised that within two months they would be ready to qualify as First Class Scouts and begin their tests for Merit Badges.

"We had a meeting of the Scout Council," writes a Pelotto, "and there was no opposition to the decision to co-operate with the Boy Scouts of America. Everybody seemed ready and anxious to make the change so you can count upon our becoming a part of your body at once. However, we are arranging for a week from Thursday to have a meeting of all men interested in the Boy Scout movement both here and at Oakland to discuss the

FACE DISFIGURED WITH ECZEMA

Covered with Eruption to Back of Ears So They Hardly Knew What He Looked Like. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In 4 Weeks Face Fine and Clean.

"One little boy Gilbert was troubled with eczema when but a few weeks old. His face was covered with eruption to back of his ears. The poor little fellow suffered very much. The nurse began to feel that the little face was disfigured very much. We hardly knew what he looked like. The face looked like raw meat. We tried little bags of cloth over his hands to prevent him from scratching. He was very restless at night, his little face itched."

"We consulted two doctors at Chicago, where we resided at that time. After trying all the medicine of the two doctors without any result, we read of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Following the directions carefully and promptly we saw the result, and after four weeks, the dear child's face was as fine and clean as any little boy's face. Every one who saw Gilbert after using the Cuticura Remedies was surprised. He has a head of hair which is a pride for any boy of his age, three years. We can only recommend the Cuticura Remedies in every case of eczema. Gilbert is now at West Point, N.Y., Oct. 25, 1910.

At about Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a liberal sample sent free, on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 111, Boston.

NO MAN'S LAND A ROMANCE

BY LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE
ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WATERS
COPYRIGHT, 1911, BY LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

The other vessel was entering the mouth of the channel, at the moment that Const put the helm over and brought the Echo's green starboard eye into view. A mile or so lay between them. Appleyard lifted the hatch and opened the throttle full, before setting out the port light.

A shower of spray swept over the Echo's counter as she backed the tide. "That's the stuff," said the little man. "Now they're wondering what particular variety of darn fools we are. Hold her as she stands—steady."

Two throaty blasts from an automatic whistle floated down the wind. "What'd I tell you?" chuckled Appleyard. "She's slowed down at last." "She's unable to discern any change in the speed of the hearing craft. 'It hurts to do this.' The little man jerked the whistle lever and emitted a single, prolonged, derisive blast. "Lord! they must be cussin' a blue streak!"

By this time the Echo had worked well up into the channel, the other vessel being about midway through. To a second signal, a solitary blast, Appleyard replied with two, in utter defiance of every rule and regulation for the prevention of collisions at sea. A husky shout of wrath answered this manifestation of landlubberly foolishness. Appleyard responded with three short blasts of the whistle, the same signifying what was obviously untrue—that he had reversed his engine and was running full-speed astern; for at the same moment, in obedience to his low-toned command—"Starboard, starboard your helm!"—Const again put the wheel over and the Echo swung smartly on her heel, showing her port light and making as if to cut across the other's bows at a moment when they were but a few lengths apart.

There was an instant of suspense as the boats drew swiftly together. Const held his breath and prepared to jump should the threatened happen; it seemed certain that the sharp stem of the motor cruiser would crash into the catboat's side. Even Appleyard lost something of his customary aplomb and betrayed the strain upon his nerves.

"St tight—st tight!" he whispered between his closed teeth. "Don't give an inch—they've got to—they don't dare—ah!"

The last was a sigh of relief as the cruiser reversed sharply in toward Pasque, shot forward a couple of lengths and brought up suddenly with a clanging screw—hard and fast aground.

A moment later the Echo rounded gracefully to port within two yards of her stern; and simultaneously Appleyard, leaning far out over the counter, made an exceedingly cunning cast with a coil of line which Const had laid in against the possibility of a broken halyard. The flying loops settled accurately into the water, just above the foam kicked up by the cruiser's propeller, and in another instant his motor stopped with a strangled gasp.

Out of the cloud of profanity that smoked up from the cruiser's cockpit flew first one heavy swearer, then another. Both splashed heavily alongside the Echo. Not until they had drawn well out of range did Const and Appleyard rise from the shelter of the combings.

"So far, splendid," commented Appleyard soberly, staring astern. "I reckon that, between the furrow they ploughed in that shoal and several yards of good hominy rope gumming up the shaft and screw, they'll hide where they are a week. Till the storm blows over any way. It ought to take a good diver or a marine railway to free that shaft. . . . Now, if you'll give me the wheel, we'll go about and get ready for business. That was child's play, alongside of what's to come. Get the sail up, please."

For a space thereafter Const had his hands full; the Echo was swinging out of the channel, just the hollow, dependent clinging bell, and the wind had found her with a swoop of fury and a wolfish howl. By the time he had trimmed the main-sheet the catboat was swinging upward at

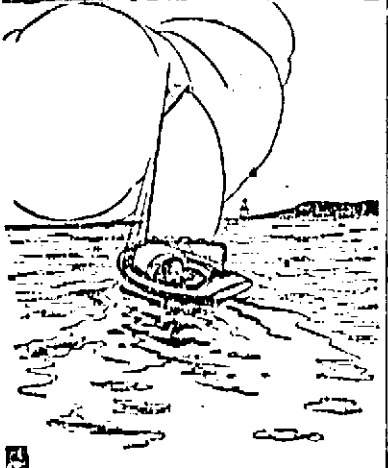

"You can tie to this," Appleyard summed up; "they'll stay put till morning. And then a while. That'll give me time to tend to these cases propeller. Even should I fall down there, we've got at the worst reckoning a clear eighteen hours. And if that's not long enough for us to frame up a suitable last act for this thrilling daydream of errand and hominy hearts, we ain't fit even to dope out a scenario for a moving-picture film; and I for one will make up my mind to shake the leg, and try to make a dent in the two-day."

From which pronouncement Const drew what comfort he could. . . . The banaglog occupied what was apparently the brow of the island's highest ridge, something like a quarter of a mile to the south of the farmhouse and near the southern shore. As they drew nearer Appleyard slowed down to a cautious walk. At a fair distance from the lighted window both paused, as if seeking some faint word; then, without speech (it would have been necessary to shriek to make oneself heard in that exposed spot) Const caught the little man's hand and gave it a long, friendly pressure. He turned and moved a few paces toward the house. When he looked back Appleyard had melted into the darkness.

He passed a window so mated with moisture that he could have seen little within had he wished or stopped to look. He turned a corner, moved past another window, and came to a door before which he stopped a long minute, not hesitating, but pulling himself together, realizing but on the whole not sorry that he now stood alone, had only himself to look to whatever the emergency the next few hours might give rise to. On the other side of those panels were the only two beings in the world who could strike upon his heart-strings every chord in the gamut of the emotions; and he must be prepared to experience them all and show himself unmoved, at least outwardly.

Lifting his hand, he knocked loudly, and without waiting turned the knob and entered. A tearing blast of wind accompanied him, for the door faced the east. He had a brief struggle with it before he got it closed and only a moment later he was alone. . . .

The Echo Took Her Chance Alone. . . .

faced the light—his heart in his mouth, if the truth is to be told.

To Const's unspeakable relief he found Blackstock alone. Apparently the man had been sitting by the table, his feet on a nearby stool; but when Const discovered him he was standing in that dogged, forceful pose of strength and preparedness which seemed somehow peculiarly his; with his feet well apart, his heavy body inclining forward from his hips, his broad shoulders a tittle lifted, his round and heavy head thrusting forward on its thick, strong neck.

Blackstock spoke abruptly the instant Const succeeded in forcing the door to—abruptly and harshly, but with a certain jerky intonation that betrayed jangled nerves; an involuntary confession most welcome to its hearer; this was, after all, with all its viciousness, a human being—no such nerveless monster of blood and iron as Appleyard had pictured in his narrative of the hour of the assassination, or even as Const had come to figure the man in his long days of hopeless brooding.

"Who's that?" he cried. "Who's there? What the devil—"

He paused to control his agitation. But Const withheld his reply on an appreciable moment. Then, "Mr. Black, I believe," he said quietly.

"Black!" The man started at sound of an unfamiliar voice, and Const saw his great frame quiver—slightly, indeed, but perceptibly. "That's my name," he continued hoarsely. "But . . . who are you? . . . What do you mean by coming in here without knocking?" he added with a show of bluster.

"I knocked—several times," Const lied steadily. "The wind, doubtless. Sorry I startled you; thought you'd be expecting me."

"Expecting you?" Blackstock moved impatiently. "But, damn it, who are you? Can't you give yourself a name?" "Why, Handy-side, of course," Const's tone was a perfection of polite surprise. "Sincerely," it seemed to say, "you must've been looking for me!" Distrusting deliberately artificial inflections, he was at pains to speak crisply, as was not his habit; such being the only way he could think of to disguise his voice. He was watching Blackstock closely, alert for a sign of recognition in the man's expression. Somewhat to his surprise he detected none. "I got orders to come here and relieve Power last night," he continued. "Come down this morning to New Bedford and—"

The words froze upon his lips. A door to his left had opened; Katherine stood there, watching, listening. Apparently she had started to enter without any suspicion that her husband was not talking to one of the servants, and in her astonishment had stopped. The figure of the man by the door could not but be strange to her, masked as its every line and contour was by clumsy and flimsy oldskins and the deep shadow cast by the broad turned-down brim of a sou'wester. Yet Const thought to discern a deathless apprehension in her pose, a mute but indelibly pitiful question in her eyes. And his heart stood still for the crucial instant was imminent; in another minute, two at most, she would know him. And then . . .

"Well!" Blackstock roused him. "What you stopping for? I'm listening!"

"I beg pardon," Const tugged at the button on the chin-strap of his sou'wester. "The lady there . . . I didn't know . . ."

Blackstock turned his head impatiently, moving his sightless eyes in the direction of Katherine. "Oh," he said, "my wife."

The woman moved quickly into the room. "Yes," she said, still with her eyes to the stranger. "It is I, Douglas. I didn't know—I fancied one of the servants."

"This is Mr. Handy-side," Blackstock told her sharply, as if irritated by the interruption; "he's to take Power's place."

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES

They Are Closely Observing Public Health Conditions.

An examining physician for one of the prominent life insurance companies made the astonishing statement that the reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of applicants do not even suspect that they have the disease.

He states that judging from his own experience and reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has probably been more successful in relieving and curing these diseases than any remedy known. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of cures.

We find that Swamp-Root is strictly an herbal compound and we would advise our readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes—fifty cents and one dollar.

However, if you wish first to test its wonderful merits, send to Dr. Kilmor, c/o, Hutchinson, N. Y., for a sample bottle, absolutely free. When writing be sure and mention the Janesville Daily Gazette.

Chiropractic Makes Supple Spines

and supple, willowy spines are usual to healthy disease proof bodies. Take the kinks out of the vertebrae place them as they naturally should be, one straight above the other, and every nerve passing from the spinal cord through the small opening in spinal bones performs its regular natural function, making the body well. Chiropractic adjustments alone and only make perfect spines.

Only one person in 500 with a spine which shows no defect. A few days ago a well known man, feeling perfectly well, laughed at the idea of his spine being out of line. Examination proved a curve noticeable to the eye and which in time will bring on a bad condition of some one of the organs of the body. A course of Chiropractic adjustments will place the vertebrae in position and prevent disease.

of Dr. James Eads How prevail. During the recent "convention" of hoboes held here, Dr. How was the leading figure throughout, and introduced many resolutions which seemed to appeal to the idle ones.

One resolution introduced by How did not meet with their approval, and this is strange as it is along lines by which many philanthropists have tried to assist the unemployed by providing for a settlement near all the large centers of population at which the unemployed could secure labor and draw on the colicists to settle their needs. Somehow, the idea of having to work to supply their needs did not make a hit with the hoboes.

You Will Be Proud of the appearance of your stove

Black Silk Stove Polish

It makes old stoves look like new and lasts four times as long as any other shine. Don't imagine all brands of stove polish are alike. Black Silk is different. It's so much better than other stove polishes that there is absolutely no comparison. It's in a class all by itself.

It makes a brilliant, glossy shine that appeals to the eye—don't rub or dust off. Give it a trial. Try it on your parlor stove—your cook stove or your gas range. If you do not find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money.

Here is what some of the ladies write us: "I like Black Silk Stove Polish better than any I have ever used. People say, 'where did you get your new stove,' and I tell them it's Black Silk Stove Polish that makes it look like new." "I will not use any other kind when I can get Black Silk Stove Polish. It makes stoves look nice and stay nice longer than any other polish." "Black Silk Stove Polish is by far the best I ever used. I have tried many different kinds but find none as good." "Like Black Silk Stove Polish better than any I ever used. Several parties in this neighborhood are anxious to get some of your polish since they saw my stove after using it."

Ask your hardware and stove dealer for Black Silk Stove Polish and refuse a counterfeit brand. Costs you no more than the ordinary kind so why not have the best?
